Bromgold Workplace Diversity

Lynda Goldman is the author of a new book to help employees integrate into the Canadian workplace: “You’re Hired. Now What? An Immigrant’s Guide to Success in the Canadian Workplace,” published by Oxford University Press in November, 2009.

She is the author of 30 ESL books and business books, including the bestselling Canadian Concepts series, How to Make a Million Dollar First Impression and Prescription for Success for the pharmaceutical industry.

As a consultant, business writer and seminar leader for corporations, associations and business schools, Lynda gives workshops on Canadian business etiquette, business writing, diversity, and cross-cultural communication.

She and her business partner Shelley Brown are in the research stage of creating a new Diversity Index for immigrants in the workplace.
