

Wendy Lynn Lerat
Vice-President
Student Services & Academics
Saskatchewan Indian Institute of Technologies

Home: Wendy Lynn Lerat is from the Cowessess First Nation located in Treaty 4 territory. Growing up and having the life experience of being part of a First Nation community has provided Wendy with an accurate understanding of the challenges and opportunities of First Nation people. This understanding has been the source of inspiration to Wendy's career development, and has been the most important point of reference in developing sustainable solutions for issues facing First Nation people.

Education: Wendy completed her Bachelors of Administration at the University of Regina in 2002. Wendy also completed her Masters of Business Administration from the University of Saskatchewan in 2003.

Family: Proud mother of four girls and one boy.

Interests: Since she was seventeen, Wendy has been a long distance runner. A major area of interest is the engagement of First Nation youth in defining their life purpose: choosing to live life using one's life and the gifts given to them to make our world a better place.

Testimonials: Wendy is recognized by her peers at the Saskatchewan Indian Institute of Technologies as a caring individual who respects the wisdom of our Elders, and who has provided guidance to the development of SIIT's new vision for Student Services & Academics staff, Faculty, and Deans.
